VOL. XVIII—NO. 195. PORTLAND, OREGON: FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1878. PRICE—TEN CENTS

GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Louisiana Republicans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19.—The adjournment of the Republican state convention is reported to have been the result of the influence of the present state committee, who desired to retain their power until 1880, and of custom house officials, who were afraid of resolutions proposed by Buries and other colored delegates, who were determined to denounce Hayes and the custom house. The convention will not reassemble, and the state central committee will publish an address, which is delayed by disagreements upon the financial question, many members contending that holding to the Greenbackers will alienate southern Republicans.

Political.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19.—The National state convention assembled to-day. Nearly half of the members were formerly Republicans acting with Wells and Anderson and the custom house. Four-fifths of the delegates are comparatively unknown in political circles. It is reported that several communications have been addressed to and from Gen. Beauregard, who was solicited to submit his name for nomination as state treasurer by the Nationals, with the assurance of an indorsement by the Republican committee. Beauregard's friends say he will not allow his name to be used for Wells and Anderson, but custom house officials say that he will accept if nominated.

Irving and Davis were last seen in Deadwood about noon yesterday.

The South Carolina Railroad.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 18.—In the South Carolina railroad case the judge says that there can be no question that the defendant company is insolvent. It has mortgaged all its property twice and now labors under a mortgage debt of near six millions of dollars and company has made an assignment to a syndicate of the directors of the road of all its bills receivable and available assets to secure the payment of a loan of $200,000.

Fever Infectious, not Contagious.

CALLYHOLA, Sept. 18.—Hugh Plymole, seven years of age, the last patient in the infected district, died last night. No other cases. Experience clearly proves that in this latitude yellow fever is infectious, but not contagious.

Rations Wanted.

A Novel Treatment—Its Failure.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19.—Dr. Samuel Copis to-day at 12 o'clock transferred, at the New Orleans infirmary, eight ounces of blood from the arm of a healthy stout laborer at Gay's refinery into the veins of E. J. Gay, Jr., sick and very low of yellow fever. The object was to sustain life in the patient to see if the kidneys would act which, however, they refused to do, and at 11 P. M. Mr. Gay died.

All Needs Supplied.

CANTON, Miss., Sept. 19.—In justice to our many friends too numerous to mention all over our beloved land, we issue this, our circular, to notify them, that we are no longer in need of provisions or money. Our every want is supplied. To our brethren all over the country we extend the hand of brotherly love and friendship. We will never be able to repay you, but we can pray Almighty God to shield you from the pangs that we have suffered. The fever is abating and we have but few cases to-day to report. We hope for a favorable change. Signed—G. W. Thomas, President Howard Association; S. C. Devine, Chairman Relief Committee.

WASHINGTON CITY.

A Disorderly Caller.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Isaac L. Cohen, arrested for disorderly conduct in the agricultural department building when refused admission to the room of the commissioner with his labor delegation, was in police court to day and placed under a bond of $100 to keep the peace for 30 days. The court reserved decision until the expiration of that time, allowing the case to stand open for that period.

More of Cohen's Madness.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Cohen, who was arrested while trying to force his way into the treasury, held a meeting last night at the city hall, which was attended by a large crowd. He intended holding a meeting at the east front of the capitol, but ascertaining that objection would be raised by the authorities there, he gave notice late this afternoon that the city hall had been selected. Colored and white men made speeches, and then Cohen, who related the circumstances of his arrest, announced that to-morrow a strike in this city would begin, and requested all present to assemble at 2 P. M. at the headquarters of the Workingmen's Relief Association, and under his leadership to march to every point where laboring men are at work for less than $1 50 per day, and compel them to stop. The superintendent of police to-night made every arrangement to prevent any violation of order, and every available policeman will be on duty, and if necessary, also militia.

Protection in Case of Riot.

The capitol police and citizens have lodged information at police headquarters that the language made use of last night at a meeting of Cohen's followers, on the east steps of the capitol, was of the most incendiary character. Some speakers advocated a raid on the U. S. treasury and helping themselves to the funds there. The district commissioner to-day made a requisition for forty set of cavalry equipments, pistols, ammunition, etc., for use of the police department. The commissioners have also made a requisition upon the chief of ordnance for some canteens, carbines, slings, and a quantity of carbine cartridges for the use of the district militia, to be turned over to Maj. Hanneman, commanding district artillery.

The General Land Office.

The commissioner of the land office will urge upon congress the importance of the reorganization of that office. The commissioner says that clerks are needed and that salaries are not sufficient to command the services of competent men.

The Life Saving Service.

J. J. Kimball, general superintendent of the life saving service, has addressed a circular to the district superintendents telling them that the season most prolific of marine disasters is rapidly approaching and promises to be severe, and adds, never has there been a time when the coast so needed the guard of absolute fidelity and service at wrecks.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

The French Savings Bank.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—The suicide of the managing director of the French savings bank has had the effect of creating a run on that institution. To-day an eager and excited crowd was collected who, forming in one line, streamed into the bank to leave their names, calling for their deposits under the thirty days rule. All the business transacted by the bank was simply to register the names of these depositors, all payment being postponed, which virtually is a temporary suspension of the institution.

A Large Failure.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—In the matter of the bankruptcy of the Sierra Lumbering Co. of Shasta, Tehama and Butte counties, adjudged bankrupt, on its own petition a warrant in bankruptcy has been issued out of the U. S. district court against said bankrupt, giving notice of a meeting of creditors to be held at the court of bankruptcy on the 30th inst., to choose one or more assignees of the estate. The creditors number over 2,100.

The California Fair.

Pat Hunt was distanced in the first heat; Nutwood won the first, second and fifth heats, Tommy Gates the third and fourth. Time 2:24, 2:24½, 2:27½, 2:26½, 2:26½. The starters in the 4 year old race were Pascora, Hayward, Belle Davis and Bessie. Pascora won the first heat in 2:37, the second in 2:39, and the third and race in 2:39½. Bessie distanced.

A Measure of Economy.

Pursuant to the order of the board of supervisors, extra clerks in the different departments of the city government have been discharged to the number of 35, saving $4,000 a month.

Agricultural College Land Grant.

The register and receiver of the U. S. land office received the following dispatch from Washington to-day:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18, 1878.

To the Register and Receiver, San Francisco: Receive no more applications to select lands under the one hundred and fifty thousand acre grant, the full quantity having already been selected.

J. A. WILLIAMSON, Commissioner.

The dispatch relates to the agricultural college land grant set aside by the United States for the benefit of the University of California.

Murdered by Chinamen.

YREKA, Sept. 18.—News was received here this evening that a man named Turrowski was found murdered in his claim, just below Happy Camp, last Friday morning. His skull was mashed in and he was stabbed twice in the body, and a large boulder had been rolled upon his head. The murderers are supposed to be Chinamen, as he had been endeavoring to sell his claim to them and had showed them three or four hundred dollars worth of specimens which he had taken from the claim. The murderers stole these. The citizens of Happy Camp are greatly excited and have all the Chinamen in that vicinity corralled, and declare that they will find out the perpetrators of the deed and that the Chinese must leave. This is the third or fourth murder of white men by Chinamen in that vicinity.

A Boarding & Day School for Boys.

PORTLAND, OREGON.

Under the Supervision of BISHOP MORRIS.

THIS SCHOOL WILL OPEN IN THE COMMODIOUS and recent fall new building on TUESDAY, Sept. 3d, under the Headmastership of PROF. JOSEPH W. HILL, an A. M. of Yale College. There will be a full corps of faithful and experienced assistants, among them Mr. Louis Miner, already favorably known to the patrons of the School.

Among the very satisfactory testimonials that Bishop Morris has received concerning Prof. Hill, are the following:

YALE COLLEGE, April 26, 1878.

This may certify that Mr. Joseph W. Hill has had ample experience in teaching, is matured in years, and is well fitted to take charge of a High School. He is a man of excellent character, and cannot fail to give satisfaction as a teacher.

(Signed) N. PORTER, Pres.

THE SELLECK SCHOOL, NORWALK, CONN., Jan. 16, 1878.

I have long known Mr. Joseph W. Hill. He was my pupil for years and has since taught for me. To his ability and work I unhesitatingly testify. He is an earnest student and in my judgment possesses rare qualifications for the profession of teaching. I commend him very cordially and thoroughly.

FRIDAY MORNING SEPT 20 1878

THE FLIPPANT CHARGE OF INFIDELITY

Both the Catholic Sentinel and the Standard profess to be surprised and even grieved at an article which recently appeared in THE OREGONIAN in which it was stated that epidemics like the yellow fever are the product of specific physical causes which could not be removed by fasting and prayer In our recognition of certain facts which are among the best established of any in the whole field of science they see nothing but 'infidelity and this not because there was a word in our remarks against the goodness wisdom mercy or power of the Almighty but solely for the reason that the views stated do not accord with the dogmas of ecclesiastical denominations to which these critics respectively belong We do not charge them with insincerity or hypocrisy at the same time no one can fail to detect the canting tone with which they pursue their feeble argument What is the use of denying the evidence of our senses or the proofs of experience? Medical science long since established the fact that to bring about an epidemic of yellow fever anywhere a series of conditions must be fulfilled These conditions are allied partly to the external circumstances of human beings and partly to those which are personal Among the external circumstances are climate and terrestrial conditions, which must present a certain definite character For instance the mean temperature of the year must reach nearly 80 degrees Fahrenheit such a temperature in fact as is always observed in the tropical climate of the Antilles, where the disease had its origin and nearly always exists as an endemic Yellow fever may also be termed a disease of river and sea ports and of level districts. Again, in conjunction with necessary climatic conditions a certain moisture of the soil and an accumulation of organic substances passing into decomposition have a positive and universally recognized influence on the causation of the disease Yellow fever is most probably the product of a living miasm All the analogies of medical science confirm this supposition The germ of the disease the cell from which it is propagated, as soon as it obtains a lodgment in any way in a human organism sets up in it the diseased process to which we are accustomed to give the name of yellow fever. The seeds long retain their poisonous nature they are under certain circumstances quite indestructible, and when placed in suitable external conditions are capable of kindling an epidemic even far away from their place of origin Experience shows that the specific cause or living germ is destroyed by cold Two white frosts usually check it. But yellow fever, as all other epidemics, have a self limited duration In common phrase they 'run out' It has been found by long observation that the average duration of yellow fever epidemics is 38.33 days In all this there is nothing supernatural, the malady is as certainly the result of physical conditions as the ague is produced by malarial poison But we do not consider remittent fevers, which often have been very prevalent and very distressing, a visitation of divine judgment or wrath, to be averted by petitions to Heaven We get out of the malarious districts and take quinine When small pox threatens, or rages as an epidemic, we do not appoint and observe a day of prayer, but employ vaccination Can anybody say why we should act as rational creatures when small pox prevails, and take a different course when we are threatened with yellow fever? We are not questioning and would not be so presumptuous as to question the propriety and efficacy of prayer within its own province. It may, if directed in the right spirit, fortify the mind, lead to resignation and submission, and be good in all its consequences of reflex action upon the human soul Amid "the pestilence that walketh in darkness and wasteth at noonday" it may give, and in innumerable instances doubtless does give, steadiness, consolation and support. It sustains in the performance of duty, and in the fulfillment on these trying occasions of the great offices of humanity It may help to make men fearless of self and to labor with self sacrificing spirit, as multitudes of good people do, to assist their stricken fellow men And in the midst of so general a danger and so great a sorrow it is good preparation for death But it is nothing less than a folly which is impiety to God and a reproach to human reason to suppose that it will remove the physical causes of pestilence It is a great error too when prayer is proposed as part of a system which teaches that a deadly epidemic like this is a visitation of the displeasure and vengeance of the Almighty, because such a doctrine always increases the general terror and thus weakens the physical power to resist the assaults of the disease.

But there are very many religious people who are free from the errors and superstitions with which this subject was once a most universally surrounded A remarkable article on "Prayer, its Nature and Potency," appears in the current number of the National Repository, a Methodist publication of celebrity. It is from the pen of the editor, Dr Curry, who is widely known both for the purity of his religious life and the great range of his literary and scientific attainments 'As with every other point in religion, the writer says, the doctrine of prayer suffers from opposite extremes of error Unbelief wholly excludes it as impossible and absurd On the other hand superstition operates equally, or even more disastrously for though it may be less certainly and immediately destructive yet because it is more prevalent it is in fact more fearfully damaging Its tendency is everywhere the same, to reduce prayer to the nature of a charm or an incantation It uniformly stops short of God and makes prayer the efficient agency by which the work is to be done, or else it degrades God to its own level, and subjects him to its power The eastern pagans, who have their praying machines, in which their written prayers are so placed that by the revolving of a wheel they are repeatedly held up toward heaven to be read from above, present an extreme case of trusting to the mere act of praying for reaching the sought for ends And may it not be said that they who so pray are the most logical of all those who use prayer as in itself an effective force? The rain makers of Africa are looked upon as able to command the elements by their incantations and recently we have seen in the newspapers an account of an affair in the east of France, where, on account of a prevailing drought the monks were required to pray for rain and because the rain did not come the peasantry became enraged, and threatened violence to the ghostly fathers And according to the popular superstition were not the peasants logically right? Again prayers are offered with expectation that they will not be altogether unavailing whose prompting motives are only selfish and worldly, for success in business for favorable weather and generally for worldly prosperity So too of prayers dictated by human fears as of shipwreck or of lightning and to avert present dangers as in times of pestilence or in battle they are offered with a superstitious notion that somehow they will accomplish their purpose, with a feeling that prayer as a force is to be employed as needed. While on the one hand man should be careful not to limit the divine sufficiency or to deny the power of God over nature on the other hand it is neither wise nor devout to view him as swayed in his eternal purposes by the caprices of men's importunities Much is added respecting the true nature of prayer which is called in its ultimate analysis the attitude of a quickened soul before God Discussion of this side of the subject falls within another province than that of secular journalism We state it simply as the position now held by a large portion of the religious world on this subject and to repudiate the flippant charge of infidelity with which canting ignorance sallies forth to attack those who equally refuse to deny God and impeach their own reason

FLUCTUATIONS OF POPULAR SENTIMENT

Nothing more forcibly illustrates how popular and political sentiment follows fluctuating interests than the changes which have taken place on the currency question In the campaign when Greeley was the Democratic candidate both parties were equally pronounced in favor of early resumption and specie for currency Even down to the last presidential contest the candidates of both parties were equally known as hard money men If there was any difference it was thought Hayes was more likely to be affected by the general Western laxity on this question The St Louis convention which nominated Tilden and Hendricks arraigned the Republican party for having failed to redeem the greenbacks in coin, according to promise. Had Tilden been declared president he would have stood with the hardest of the hard money men But as a contemporary correctly remarks, such has been the rapid change in the two years past that the Democratic party by a large majority now seem to be resolved against specie payment and resumption Besides, not a small section of the Republican party has taken the same course, and a new party of no small proportions has sprung up which makes this the only issue At present the public mind is demoralized, thoroughly so Perhaps if a vote of the country could be taken to day on this question there would be a large majority in favor of inflation and in definite postponement of resumption The house of representatives to be elected this year is likely to be of his way of thinking by a large majority, and the senate will be so by a strong majority after next March There will be then only he single thread of the presidential veto between us and the culmination of this national folly But it can take no great while for this delusion to reach its height. It will not take long for the sober second thought to assist itself

There is a style of journalism, or pretended journalism, that is always a menace to the public peace It is malicious and scurrilous, utterly without responsibility, has no regard for the decencies of life, wantonly assails private character, and even invades the sanctity of homes, it collects filth from all quarters, and passing it through its columns makes it more filthy still, and relying for immunity on its want of personal character and its utter pecuniary irresponsibility it riots in slander and defies those whom it assails to obtain redress Because the proprietor of this species of journalism has managed somehow to get control of a small lot of type, he considers his right established to vilify all who may be objects of his dislike, and even to tear aside the veil which should always protect the privacy of the family from public view A heavy share of responsibility rests upon those who by their patronage and support encourage those who thus make a trade of polluting public morals and assailing private and public peace

Mr Slater comes out squarely and strongly for real money It will be highly gratifying to a majority of the people of Oregon, and to believers in honest money throughout the whole country to be informed that Oregon's new senator is firmly right on this vital question In his speech last night he maintained that hard money was the money of the constitution that very much of the industrial and financial depression of recent times has been the result of inflation and the uncertain values of the currency, and that it would be the height of folly, after having at last through great difficulty brought our paper currency up virtually to the specie standard, to unsettle values again, by further issues of greenbacks This is an unequivocal statement of good doctrine, and we congratulate Mr. Slater and the people whom he represents on his outspoken declarations.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 20, 1878.

CITY.

LEG FRACTURED.—Capt. Peter Mackie, of the steamship City of Chester, met with a very severe accident yesterday afternoon. In company with several ladies Capt. Mackie started to go to Oregon City in a carriage. Capt. Mackie was sitting on the back seat and one of the ladies was sitting in front driving. When a short distance this side of Oregon City some portion of the harness gave way. To prevent an accident Capt. Mackie reached forward and grasped the lines, taking them from the hands of the driver. Unfortunately the Captain caught hold of only one line, which pulled the team suddenly around, causing the vehicle to capsize. All the occupants were thrown out. In falling Capt. Mackie was caught under the carriage and sustained a severe fracture of the femur. The bone was broken near the hip joint. Capt. Mackie was conveyed to this city and the fractured bone set. He will go to San Francisco on the Chester, which is announced to sail hence next Sunday. Fortunately the ladies in the carriage escaped with a few scratches.

CELESTIALS ARRESTED.—Early yesterday morning 53 celestials were arrested on a charge of violating the cubic air ordinance. They were tried yesterday in police court and each fined $5. Ten paid their fine and the remaining 43 are in durance vile. These fellows will have an opportunity of exercising their muscle on the street to-day.

SOCIETY MEETING.—The members of the Pickwick Literary Society, composed of young people, will meet this evening at the residence of Mr. Shindler, corner of Sixth and Jefferson streets, for the purpose of organizing for the coming winter. All members are earnestly requested to attend.

SENATOR SLATER SERENADED.

James H. Slater, U. S. senator elect, arrived in this city yesterday morning by the 10 o'clock train from Salem and took apartments at the Occidental Hotel where, during the day, many prominent gentlemen called on him to present their congratulations. At about 8 o'clock in the evening a company of many hundreds of persons accompanied by a band of music tendered him a serenade. After several stirring airs had been played in front of the hotel a party of gentlemen, among them the senator-elect, Col. W. H. Effinger, Mr. A. Noltner of the Standard, Mr. Lee Mayer, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, and others, appeared on the balcony and were greeted with cheers. Mr. Myers stepped forward and introduced Col. Effinger who introduced Senator Slater in a graceful speech of three minutes or less in which he congratulated the people of Oregon, particularly the eastern half of the state, in the choice of their representative. He said that they had worked together for the victory, and now in its fruitless were prepared right nobly to enjoy its fruits; that he saw in the presence of so good a number of the citizens of Multnomah not only a compliment to the distinguished gentleman who would soon address them, but a hearty approval of the conduct of their representative. He said that the people of the state could now feel certain they had elected to the national senate a man who could not be bought or controlled by any corporation or dishonest power, be it foreign or domestic. As he ceased Senator Slater arose and was greeted with prolonged applause. After expressing pleasure for the compliment of the demonstration, he plunged directly into political matters. He was sensible, he said, of the honor which had been conferred upon him by the representatives of the people, and was deeply grateful for it, and hoped to be able to fill the position of U. S. senator to the advantage and satisfaction of the people and credibly to himself. The question of finance had become one of the greatest of national interest. He was a "hard money" man, and thought all schemes of inflation or increased regulation of the greenback currency were wild and impolitic. He deplored the distress in the country caused by the paper currency produced by the necessities of the late great war, and congratulated the people upon the return to resumption, now practically attained. He was in favor of opening the Columbia river to the competition of commerce, so that any man may have the privilege of placing a line of boats upon it. As thought the O. & C. R. R. should be extended to connect with roads in California, and pledged himself to work to that end. Oregon above all, needed, he said, railroad connection with the east, and he would at all times and in every fair way work to secure it. On the labor question he said that he was during his boyhood and early manhood a laborer himself, and knew from experience what the laboring man wanted; and he knew, he thought, the right relations between capital and labor. His voice and his vote would always be used to secure right legislation for both parties. The Indian policy, he thought, was wholly wrong, and believed that every Indian should be compelled to earn his living like a white man, and should be held personally responsible for his own crimes. In concluding, he pledged himself to the very best of his ability to labor for the interests of the people of the entire state. Three cheers were then given for Senator Slater, and the crowd dispersed.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Several days ago a long article was printed in this city which attacked the private character of A. C. McDonald of the Telegram, and, in a spirit hitherto unheard of in this community, assailed him on the side of man's deepest sensibilities by revilement of his family. One J. K. Mercer, a fellow utterly without character, assumes to be the responsible manager of the publication in which this attack appeared. Yesterday afternoon three gentlemen were standing at the corner of First and Stark streets—Mr. R. E. Bybee, Mr. C. B. Bollinger and Mr. A. Nottner—engaged in conversation. J. K. Mercer was standing in the doorway of Mr. O'Brien's cigar store listening to the conversation which was going on. The three gentlemen named were standing nearer the edge of the sidewalk than the door of the cigar store. While the conversation was going on Mr. McDonald came along. He passed the gentlemen, going between them and the cigar store. Apparently his purpose was to pass along and not stop. Just as he came opposite the door he glanced up and, observing Mercer standing there, he stopped. Confronting Mercer McDonald said: "Mercer, are you responsible for that article attacking my family?" The question was asked in an ordinary tone of voice, within hearing of the three gentlemen on the sidewalk and several who were in the cigar store at the time. When interrogated Mercer was observed to rather quail and shrink back. He admitted that he was responsible for the offending article, at the same time making some rather insulting remarks, in effect saying "Well, what do you propose to do about it?" McDonald then said that he did not care what was printed about him personally, but he did not like to have his family made the subject of abuse through a paper. He added that the person who wrote the article in question was "a snipe and a cur." This provoked an insulting rejoinder from Mercer, when McDonald became quite incensed and, among other remarks, said that he could whip him if he so desired, but did not wish to have trouble with him.

During all this time Mercer stood in the door with his right hand in his trowsers' pocket. He appeared to be nervously fumbling with a pistol. McDonald observed his movements and kept a sharp lookout while he was talking. As McDonald said he could lick him, he shook his finger close to Mercer's face, when the latter exclaimed, "You had better try it," adding, "Don't you lay a finger on me, you d—— s—— of a ——." At that instant Mercer drew his right hand up, as if to draw his pistol. McDonald, who was eyeing him like a hawk, anticipated the threatening movement, and before he could bring out the weapon threw both arms around his body. Mercer struggled to free himself from McDonald's embrace, and in the struggle which ensued he was tripped. Both men fell to the sidewalk, McDonald on top. Being quick and wiry, Mercer managed to extricate himself and got from under McDonald, and meantime he drew his pistol (it was a five-chambered English revolver, self-cocker known as the "British Lion"), and while partially under attempted to use it. He reached over with his right hand and endeavored to shoot McDonald, but for some reason failed to do so. Mercer rose to his feet, and while McDonald was on his hands and knees endeavoring to regain his footing, he fired at him, pointing the weapon at his head and missing only by a few inches. Mercer, still standing almost directly over McDonald, fired again, the shot taking effect in the region of the abdomen and inflicting a very dangerous wound. The third shot struck McDonald in the left side, but glancing along did not break the skin. The fourth and last shot did not take effect. These four shots were delivered as rapidly as possible, only a few seconds intervening.

After the last shot Mercer started to go away, but whirling around he dealt McDonald, who was still on his knees, a heavy blow on the head with his revolver. By this time McDonald had drawn his pistol—a five barreled revolver—from his pocket and was preparing to use it. Observing that he had drawn his pistol Mercer started to run. He started diagonally across the street, running in a northeast direction. McDonald was sitting down on the sidewalk as he cocked his pistol. He began firing at Mercer when he was only a few yards away. Almost the same instant that the first shot was discharged Mercer slipped and fell. Those who saw him fall were certain that he was shot, but that was what really saved him, as the ball passed over him. Three more shots were fired, but by dodging and squirming Mercer managed to escape the balls, which were whistling uncomfortably near him. When the fourth shot was fired Mercer ran into a saloon near by, where he was arrested a few moments later.

McDonald did not think he was injured at first; but he soon grew faint and weak, and was placed in a carriage and conveyed to his home in East Portland.

Drs. Watkins and Raffety were summoned who probed and extracted the ball on the opposite side from where it had entered. Its course can not be precisely determined, but the wound is a very dangerous one. It may be that the ball was deflected somewhat from a right line by the muscles and walls of the abdominal cavity; if so, it may not be fatal, but no expectations can be based on his chances of recovery.

Mercer was taken before Justice Bybee, who fixed his bonds at $1,500. This was before the justice knew that McDonald had been dangerously injured. However, before Mercer gave the required bail, he was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to kill and committed to the county jail, where he is at present confined. An examination of the charge will probably be made this forenoon at 10 o'clock.

One of the balls discharged by one party or the other crossed the street and passing through the glass door of Sherlock's large saddlery establishment, struck an old gentleman named Lawrence in the thigh and inflicted a painful flesh wound. The injury is not regarded as dangerous.

There is scarcely anything to be said in relation to local finances. The general movement is about as usual at this season, but the active demand always called forth for the purpose of moving the wheat crop has not yet commenced. A number of grain vessels are now in the river and others will soon arrive, and increased activity is looked for in consequence.

The San Francisco market is reported as follows: "The demand for money has become somewhat more active, and any required amount of accommodation can be had on the following terms, viz: 9@10 per cent. on good mercantile paper in commercial banks; 7½@8 per cent. on gilt edged ditto; 5½@7 on call, with best collaterals, and 9@12 per cent. in savings banks, according to nature of security."

Domestic Produce.

The bottom of the recent decline in wheat $1 50 per cental, has been reached, and at this date $1 55 is eagerly paid and the tendency is upward. During the week several large transfers have been made at the latter figure. The receipts are fair, but are hardly equal to those of the date of last year corresponding. Farmers have confidence in the market maintaining its present standing, if not going higher, and are not inclined to sell. Much of the grain brought in has gone into warehouse.

The San Francisco Commercial Herald of the 12th inst. reports the California market as follows: "The receipts from the interior continue large and free, and the output fully equal thereto. There is very little wheat placed in city warehouses this season, farmers generally showing a disposition to sell as fast as they can get their grain threshed and carried to tide water. Harvesting is yet progressing in the valleys, and in some large grain growing districts the threshing will not be completed before Christmas, with all their improved steam threshers and separators. The crop is turning out well in quantity, but not well in quality. Some samples of pinched wheat on trial at the mills show 50, 60, and even 80 barrels of bran to one barrel of flour, while the thin skinned "proper" wheat yields of bran only 37 barrels. This shows the true value of different kinds of wheat in our market."

A large amount of wool withheld from market during the regular season by the Indian troubles in Eastern Oregon is coming in. Our market is steady at the following quotations: Valley, 15@19c; Eastern Oregon, 12½@17.

DR. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Nervous Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by His skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness; has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the private troubles which should be used to alleviate their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skilful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and these years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, showing a pretended friendship for the patient. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.

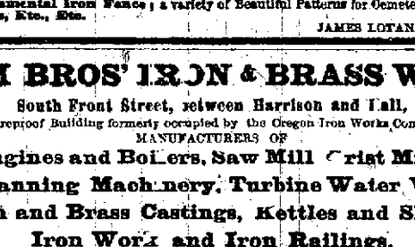
PERCHERON STOCK FOR SALE.



I WILL SELL THE FOLLOWING VALUABLE Breeding Animals:

PRIDE OF PERCHE or GEN. FLEURY, DOLL, WHITE ROSE, TEMPEST, these are all full bloods. JENNIE a fifteen sixteenth blood. Doll has been bred to "Arabian Boy," the other three to Gen. Fleury. All appear to be in foal, and have proven No. 1 brood mares.

JOSIE, a yearling filly by Gen. Fleury, dam Jennie. This filly will be enrolled in the forthcoming Percheron-Norman Stud Book, having fine crosses from Percheron sires.

ELLA, a 3-year filly, by Gen Fleury, dam Maggie.

The above seven horses are the most valuable breeding animals of this Stock ever offered for sale on this coast, and will be a valuable acquisition to any section they may be located in.

I would prefer to sell the lot together.

I will have part of the above number at the coming State Fair.

Also, "ARABIAN BOY," some Yearling Colts and Fillies, with the Shetland Ponies, and Sucking Shetland filly "Minnie."

It is 27 years since the Percheron stock was introduced in Ohio by the Secretary of the Ohio Board of Agriculture—J. H. Klippart, Esq., publishes in his recent annual report, replies received from the various counties in the State, to the following questions: Have the Percheron horses been introduced in your county? Do they give general satisfaction? To the first, 75 counties answer Yes. To the second 59 answer Yes, and 9 answered No. And from the same report the average price of good yeldings and mares for farm use were higher in Union county, where they were first imported, than any other county in the State. This certainly speaks well for the Percherons. Every horseman knows that a large well formed horse will always bring a good price in any market.

BEAUTY:

OR, THE Secret of a Fair Face.

An Item of Interest to Every Lady who Desires to be More Beautiful than she now is.

Unfortunately the womenkind in a hundred, subjected to the whims of an Almighty Master, possesses that basis and starting point of real beauty—a pure and clear complexion. What nature has thus denied, art must be called upon to furnish. It can be done; it is done daily. Prof. W. E. Hagan discovered beauty within the reach of every unblessed daughter of Eve, when he discovered that surprising article known in fashionable circles as the true secret of beauty, and called

MAGNOLIA BALM

The MAGNOLIA BALM lies such advice for creating a pure and blooming complexion. It conceals all natural blemishes in the most surprising and effective manner. It removes all roughness, eruptions, redness, blotches, freckles, and tan with magical power. It drives away all feelings of fatigue and excitement. It makes the plainest face beautiful. It gives the complexion a dazzling purity, and makes the neck, face, and arms appear graceful, refined and pliable. If unblessed with one of Eve's look not more than 20 years old, and changes the rustic maiden into a cultivated city belle.

The Magnolia Balm removes all blemishes and conceals every drawback to beauty, and, while it is an harmless cosmetic, it has a life like effects that the closest observer cannot detect its use. Ladies who want to make themselves attractive can make an absolute certainty of it by using HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM, and we know of no other way. It is the cheapest preparation in the world, all things considered, and may be had at any drug store.
